Entry-Level Fire Protection Engineer
—Denver (CO)—

Mead & Hunt, Inc., a nationally recognized professional services consulting firm, has a position available for an entry-level fire protection engineer. Responsibilities include designing fire suppression and fire alarm systems under the direction of a senior fire protection engineer; preparing plans and specifications for bidding and construction; assisting with calculations and performing code analysis. Travel and entrance onto military bases and airports will be required for this position.

The successful candidate will have a bachelor’s degree (or higher) in fire protection, mechanical or architectural engineering from an accredited four-year college or university or be able to obtain the degree within six months of hire date.

The ideal candidate will have any/all of the following:

- Experience working in an engineering, architecture, or construction firm
- Experience or coursework in fire protection engineering
- Experience with Revit
- Capability of obtaining an EIT within six months of hire
- Experience working with the International Building Code, NFPA Standards and the Uniform Facility Criteria

If you have strong communication and organizational skills, are self-motivated, and can work well both independently and as part of a team, complete the online application process for this job posting at www.meadhunt.com/careers OR submit your cover letter and resume (and the pdf application if possible) to the address below. The deadline to apply for this position is Wednesday, April 20, 2022. Interviews are awarded on our review of your ability to meet the qualifications in the paragraphs describing the “successful” candidate and “ideal” candidate, so be sure to explain where indicated in the online application (or in your COVER LETTER, not just in your resume, if you are applying by mail) how you meet each qualification listed in the paragraphs above.
